DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

3. Claims 1-31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Thompson et al. (US 6,567,703 B1) in view of Barber et al. (US 6,101,371).

Thompson teaches in col. 5, line 35 - col. 12, line 16, an implantable (see abstract, line 1) microfabricated sensor device for measuring a physiologic parameter of interest within a patient, wherein the sensor comprising: an implantable sensing device, wherein the sensing device being a micro electromechanical system (MEMS) comprising a substrate (col. 11, line 24), an integrated inductor formed on the substrate (col. 11, line 39), at least one sensor responsive to the physiologic parameters (col. 5, line 46) and being formed at least in part on the substrate, a plurality of conductive paths electrically connecting the integrated inductor with the sensor.

Art Unit: 3737

Thompson fails to mention specifically that the integrated inductor, the sensor and the conductive paths cooperatively defining an LC tank resonator.

Barber teaches such LC tank resonator is well known in the art for suppressing unwanted frequencies (col. 11, lines 31-46).

Thompson and Barber are combinable because they are from the same field of endeavor that is MEMS.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to an ordinary skill in the art, at the time the invention was made to modify Thomson's MEMS's structure so that it includes a LC tank resonator in order to suppress unwanted frequencies.

The specific limitations of the dependent claims are either inherently or obviously met by either one of the cited references.
